

FAIR VOTE POLLED IN CITY ELECTION

Nominees Unopposed Yet 2,342 Citizens Cast Ballots.

SCATTERING VOTE FOR SOCIALISTS

Mayor Richardson Re-Elected, Receiving 2,163 Testimonials of Public Regard—New Common Council Is Chosen to Take Office in September.

Voting in yesterday's municipal election in Richmond was purely perfunctory, and only those citizens went to the polls who were reminded of the occasion by the closing of certain places of business. No one was solicited to vote, and no workers appeared at any of the polling places.

The nominees of the Democratic primary were elected without opposition save for a few Socialists whose names appeared on the official ballot, but in whose behalf no fight was made. They polled the votes of members of their party, and perhaps those of the few Republicans who took the trouble to hunt out the new voting places.

The total vote of the city was 2,342, divided as follows among the four recently consolidated wards: Clay, 661; Lee, 478; Madison, 522; Jefferson, 679.

The vote for Mayor of Richmond for the succeeding term of four years between Madison Ward, E. A. Harrison, and Lee Ward, J. C. Harrison, was as follows:

Wards	Richardson	Payne
Clay	536	56
Lee	438	39
Madison	495	27
Jefferson	619	48

Totals—Richardson, 2,163; Payne, 163. Ordway Puller was elected with no opposition to the Board of Aldermen from Clay Ward, this being the only vacancy in that body at this time.

A new Common Council was elected to go into office on September 1. It will be composed as follows:

Clay Ward—Gray Haddon, Harry Huber, R. L. Peters, Clarence A. Seaton, Jacob Umlauf.

Lee Ward—W. D. Butler, James J. Pollard, Fred H. Powell, Clyde H. Ruffalo and A. L. Vonderlehr.

Madison Ward—Harvey E. Atkinson, E. B. Fuller, Carter C. Jones, John W. Moore, Gilbert K. Pollock.

Jefferson Ward—George H. Lumsden, Morgan R. Mills, George W. Rogers, W. L. Sullivan, Joseph B. Welsh.

The defeated Socialist candidates for the City Council were: George M. Norris, Clay Ward; R. B. Greenway, Lee Ward; George A. Dickerson, Jefferson Ward.

The detailed vote of the city by precincts follows:

NURSERY STOCK IN BETTER SHAPE

Inspection by State Officials Shows Gradual Elimination of Pests.

IMPORTATIONS HEADED OFF

New State Bank at Dillwyn Authorized to Begin Business.

Decided improvement has been shown in the nurseries located in Virginia during the past few years, according to the annual report of State Entomologist and Plant Pathologist E. A. Back. Special attention has been given to inspection of nurseries. In view of the fact that stock from these enterprises is very often the medium through which some of the more serious fruit insects and plant diseases gain access to the orchard. The sale of better stock has been brought about and the distribution of injurious insects has been reduced.

The San Jose scale is found to be distinctly on the decline in the nurseries. During the past year its presence was detected in eleven of the forty nurseries inspected, but in no case was the scale found in large numbers. Only a very few plants, as a rule, were found affected, and these were always destroyed by the inspector. The woolly aphid of the apple was noticed in fourteen nurseries, but to an injurious extent in only four or five, and in these measures had been taken toward its control.

Other Pests Found. Crown gall of the apple was discovered in nearly every nursery in which apples are grown, and some nurserymen report large reduction in loss of stock from this source. No peach yellows or peach rosettes have been found in a Virginia nursery, and black knot was located last year in only one.

As a result of inspection, nurserymen realize that insects and plant diseases are permanent factors in nursery and orchard work, and are exercising more care in locating planting sites, selection and fumigation of propagating wood and spraying of growing stock as a prevention of infestation.

Following the custom of the State entomologists, all the foreign nursery stock entering the State has been inspected at the port of entry. The amount of foreign-grown seedlings used by Virginia nurserymen for propagating purposes seems on the increase, and last season approximately 50,000 seedling fruit stocks were imported from the States of Canada and New York.

As a result of inspection, nurserymen realize that insects and plant diseases are permanent factors in nursery and orchard work, and are exercising more care in locating planting sites, selection and fumigation of propagating wood and spraying of growing stock as a prevention of infestation.

Dr. Back is advised when a shipment of foreign stock is entered at the port of New York and consigned to Virginia, with the route, destination and consignee. The inspector is made when the goods are unpacked, the nurserymen co-operating in every instance. Fully 50 per cent of the more injurious insect pests in this country are of foreign origin.

"During the early days of the San Jose scale in this country," says the report, "the publication of the fact that scale had been found in any nursery was sufficient to cripple the sale of that nursery. It is now, however, quite generally known that the San Jose scale is apt to appear in any nursery unless the greatest care is exercised by the nurserymen and that it is practically impossible to grow apple trees without some crown gall showing up when the trees are dug in the fall. The day has passed when any nursery should be condemned or lose trade because of comparatively small amounts of scale or crown gall affected trees are known to have been found by the inspector. A nursery from the fruit-grower's standpoint today should be judged by the stock it sends out. To be informed as far as possible on what nurseries are sending out the Virginia State Horticultural Society, at its January, 1912, meeting voted a resolution requesting the entomologist to publish the names of the nurseries along with the results of the inspection of their stock."

SARAH'S GETTING CLOSE TO SCOUTS

Less than 6,000 points separate Edward Johnson, Violet Crump, Cecil Whitley and Ellen Moore, and these four will almost inevitably fall into second, third, fourth and fifth places. As only second and third places pay high in the colored division, this fight will be to the finish, the result being in doubt until the final count. Among the tail-enders, only one new face appeared yesterday—Joe Overton—who displaced Norvell V. Jones for the honor of thirteenth place. Jones failed to make his return yesterday, and will possibly reclaim his hold in the money list when he makes his two-day entry this afternoon.

The entry into the race of a second company of Boy Scouts was made yesterday, when Wylie Woolfolk, of 11 North Harrison Street, appeared for enlistment. If these young soldiers from the West End had entered earlier in the race they would probably have given the East End Boy Scouts a hard fight for first money, but as it is, fine work will be necessary for the West Enders to be placed in the money list.

NEW DEMOCRACY CREED OF FUTURE

Rev. J. E. Hicks Tells Richmond College Alumni of Coming Social Era.

TWO HUNDRED AT DINNER

Old Grads and New Hear Speeches and Toasts at Big Annual Feast.

Two hundred loyal sons of Richmond College gathered around the board at the Business Men's Club last night on the occasion of the annual alumni dinner. Graduates of twenty-five years' standing met newly invested bachelors and renewed the ties which bound them together in a common love for alma mater. The college Glee Club added the courses with campus ditties, and the graybeards who were freshmen in the days when their feet were drawn by mules laughed anew at the musical lay of the Nut Brown Maid who had, nearly thirty years, which, said to say, were false and rattled when she waltzed.

Over the light note of Glee Club airs and the toast of the principal address, delivered this year by Rev. J. E. Hicks, of Danville. The speaker took for his subject "Education and the New Democracy," making it the instrument of an inspiring message. He spoke eloquently of a new social democracy which is to know no distinction of creed or class, and prophesied the early advent of the day when instead of liberty enlightening the world, enlightenment will liberate the universe.

George Bryan Toastmaster. George Bryan, as toastmaster, welcomed the assembly, and presented the speakers. He spoke optimistically of the future of the college and the possibilities for increased usefulness in its new situation at Westhampton.

"While it might be difficult for one to discover among the tall trees at Westhampton the great college tower which is so graphically represented on the menu cards to-night," said Mr. Bryan, "we can all be sure that the tower is in posse if not just now in esse."

In addition to the address by the speaker of the evening, short talks were made by Herbert L. Cox, class of 1887; Park P. Deane, class of 1890; Rev. Samuel Phillips, class of 1897; Director-General John Barrett, of the Pan-American Union, and Mayor D. C. Richardson.

A short business meeting at 7 o'clock preceded the dinner proper. Fifty-two members of the graduating class were admitted to membership in the General Alumni Association. The following were elected to serve the ensuing year: President, S. H. Templeman, Richmond; First Vice-President, Hill Montague, Richmond; Second Vice-President, Robert N. Pollard, Richmond; Third Vice-President, Dr. L. L. Lanford, Norfolk; Secretary, Professor W. A. Harris, Richmond; and Treasurer, J. Aubrey Saunders, Richmond.

Two New Professors. The annual meeting of the board of trustees was held at noon yesterday for the purpose of examining reports and filling vacancies in the faculty. Two new professors were elected. Professor W. M. Montgomery, late of William and Mary College, was elected to the chair of Latin, made vacant by the resignation of Dr. W. P. Dicke shortly after the opening of college last fall.

Professor J. T. M. Olmstead, a graduate of Middlebury College, Vermont, was chosen to head the department of biology this year, raised to the
